

Reading Strategy— Cursive Alphabet Posters

Connections

Make connections as vou read. Thinking about how you personally connect to the text will help improve your comprehension.

Determine Importance

Not everything you read is important. Think about what part of the story or text is the most important. Take note of these parts of the text.

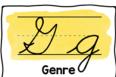

Evaluate

Make judgements and evaluate what you read. Is your source reliable? Is the text you are readina providina accurate information.

Strong readers read with fluency. You read quickly and smoothly. If you are reading a story you might want to give the different characters voices.

Strong readers will read a variety of genres. Make sure you practice reading and understanding fiction and non-fiction texts.

HOT Skills

Use Higher Order Thinking Skills when you read. Analyze the text. Look for clues to make inferences, and think about how the theme relates to your life.

Inference

When you make an inference, you use your background knowledge and text clues to help you understand the text better. Strong readers make inferences.

Jot Down Notes

While you are reading, jot down notes to help you remember important characters, events, facts and details.

K-W-L

While you are reading be thinking about what you know about the text. what you want to know about the text and keep track of what you learn.

Look and Study

Strong readers know they just don't read words. Readers take time to look and study. Look at the pictures. Look at the book jacket. Look at the text features.

Main Idea

When you read, think about the main idea of the text. The main idea is what the text is mostly about. All the details connect to the main idea.

Non-Fiction Text Features

Pay attention to the text features the author includes in non-fiction texts. How do these help you understand what you are reading?

Objective

Before you begin reading. set your objective. Are you reading for fun. to learn something, or for a specific assignment? Setting your objective will help you stay focused.

Plot Structure

Pay attention to the plot structure. This is the pattern the author uses to introduce and resolve the main conflict the character faces.

Questioning

Asking questions helps you think about the text. Ask questions before you read, while you read. and after you are done readina.

Reading

Respond to texts you read. This might mean discussing the text with a friend, writing in a journal. or being inspired for a larger writing project.

Summarize

Once you are done reading, make sure you can summarize the text. You should be able to recall important details from the beginning, the middle, and the end.

Theme

While you are reading. think about the theme of the text. What lesson or moral is the author trying to communicate through the characters and events in the story?

Use Text Evidence

Use text evidence to prove your thinking. If you are discussing or writing about the text. make sure you support your thoughts with actual text evidence.

Visualize

Visualize what you are readina. Create a movie in your mind. Think about what you are actually reading and what this would look like in real life.

Word Parts

Strong readers can use prefixes, suffixes, an other word parts to help them understand the meaning of unknown words.

eXamine Close Read

When you read, closely examine the text. Make sure you pay attention to important details, hints or clues the author is leaving you.

Readers don't like to keep the great stories they read to themselves. Strong readers will yak with a friend an talk about all the books they read.

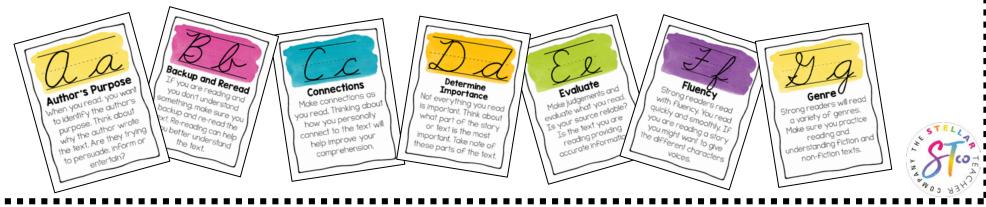

No matter what you read, make sure you read with zeal. Be excited. enthusiastic, an attentive to your reading. Zealous readers will become lifelong readers.

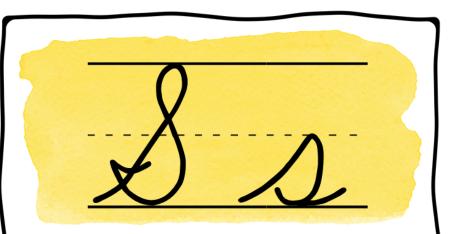

Posters Remind Students of the Following Reading Strategies & Skills

- A is for Authors' Purpose
- B is for Backup and Re-read
- C is for Connections
- D is for Determine Importance
- E is for Evaluate
- F is for Fluency
- G is for Genres
- H is for HOT Skills
- I is for Inferencing
- J is for Jot Down Notes
- K is for KWL
- L is for Look and Study
- M is for Main Idea

- N is for Non-Fiction Text Features
- O is for Objective
- P is for Plot Structure
- Q is for Questioning
- R is for Respond to Reading
- $ is for Summarize
- T is for Theme
- U is for Use Text Evidence
- V is for Visualize
- W is for Word Parts
- X is for eXamine (Close Read)
- Y is for Yak with a Friend
- Z is for Zeal

These Posters are an Excellent Teaching Tool!

Summarize

Once you are done reading, make sure you can summarize the text. You should be able to recall important details from the beginning, the middle, and the end.

* Help your students learn cursive.

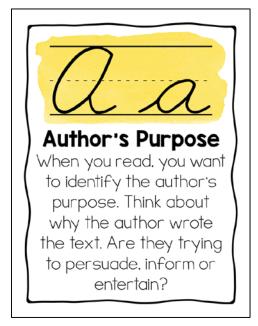

With a quick glace of the alphabet posters, students will be able to remember how to write the letter the might be stuck on.

* Help your students become stronger readers.

Let's be honest, at some point, your students attention will stray from your lesson and will wander around your classroom. What better message to catch their attention than by reminding them of important reading strategies and skills. Students will easily remember what makes them strong readers.

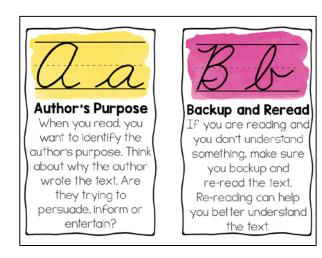

Includes Three Different Size Options

Option I: Full Page

- Vertical full page 8.5x11 page
- Works great as a classroom display or bulletin board.

Option 2: Half Page

- 2 posters included on each horizontal 8.5x11 page
- Works great in small spaces or on a bulletin board

Option 3: Quarter Page

- 4 posters on each8.5x11 page
- Works great as a reference ring at a small group table
- Display on a focus or word wall

Full size works great as a classroom display!